

Topicus unveils Akkuro: The next-generation composable banking platform that sets a new benchmark for the financial industry

Amsterdam, 3 April 2025 – In a bold move reshaping the future of finance, Topicus proudly announces the launch of Akkuro, a cutting-edge composable banking platform set to revolutionize how financial institutions innovate, scale, and serve their customers.

This strategic debut unifies the deep capabilities of Five Degrees, including its Matrix CRM and Neo Core Banking products and Topicus finance solutions such as Fyndoo Lending as well as solutions within the domains: Mortgages, Pension & Wealth and Connected Finance. All under one powerful brand: Akkuro, by Topicus. This consolidation presents a cohesive, world-class proposition to the global market and underscores Topicus' commitment to delivering modular, end-to-end financial technology at scale.

A paradigm shift in banking technology

Akkuro is designed for a new era: one defined by agility, personalization and speed. The platform empowers banks and fintechs to rapidly craft and deploy customer-centric financial solutions with unprecedented flexibility and control. Its composable architecture is purpose-built to adapt to constant change, integrate effortlessly with legacy systems and minimize vendor dependency, while enabling coherent, end-to-end financial experiences.

Akkuro allows us to orchestrate the entire banking lifecycle, from investments and core banking to CRM for banks and lending,” said Clint van Haalen, CEO of Topicus Finance. “We’re merging decades of banking expertise with a relentless drive for innovation, delivering a unified platform that empowers financial institutions to build scalable, intuitive and future-ready solutions.”

What sets Akkuro apart

- Effortless interoperability: A composable ecosystem engineered to enhance and extend existing infrastructure without disruption.
- End-to-end lifecycle coverage: Supporting the full spectrum of financial services: from lending and payments to wealth and investment management.
- Innovation at scale: Future-proof technology that grows with evolving customer expectations and regulatory landscapes.

A vision for lasting impact

Akkuro is more than a platform; it's a catalyst for meaningful change in financial services. By embracing modular design and continuous adaptability, Akkuro positions institutions to lead the industry with resilience, relevance and purpose.

About Akkuro

Akkuro is redefining composable banking by giving financial institutions the tools to design, build and scale their digital services, from lending and payments to deposits and investments. Backed by decades of domain expertise and a technology-first mindset, Akkuro empowers banks and fintechs to innovate at speed without compromising on operational continuity or customer experience. Purpose-built for agility, Akkuro enables organizations to create impactful financial journeys today while laying a robust foundation for long-term innovation. Discover more at www.akkuro.com.

Media Contact

Irene Hemmer
Head of Marketing, Akkuro
media@akkuro.com